District in Focus- Ganjam

Ganjam district is situated in the coastal region in Southern Odisha. The name Ganjam means "Granery of the world". Agriculture is a major contributor (70%) to the economy of the district, thanks to the rich alluvial soil formed by the deltas of Rushikulya river system. The major industries in the region include agro based, glass and ceramics, chemicals etc. The district has rich deposits of beach sand minerals including Rutile, Zircon, Garnet, Limenite, Silimanite and Monazite. Indian Rare Earths Ltd. (IREL) commissioned its largest flagship beach sand mining and mineral separation unit, Orissa

Sands Complex (OSCOM) at Chatrapur, in 1986. Besides, Grasim Industries has a caustic soda plant in Gopalpur.

The Gopalpur port is a major deep sea port in the region and is located midway between Paradip and Visakhapatnam ports. The port has seen significant investment in recent years and has plans to expand upto 55 million tonnes by 2025. The district is also home to the Gopalpur Industrial Park being developed by the Tata Group. There is significant scope for the development of small and medium enterprises in kewda oil, decorative tiles, stone carvings, brass metals, rice bran oil, cane and bamboo works in the district.

Testimonial

'We at HAL have a very old relationship with Odisha dating back to 1964 when we opened our first plant at Koraput. Basis our positive experience over the years, we have grown into two factories with an investment of Rs.3,500 crores. Further, we plan to increase our investments in the manufacturing of aeroengines and other related components, because of the availability of skilled and good manpower in the region.
